Utilities Plan Larger Services for Cypress

Said In Cypress

That at the community dinner honoring the ball team recently, the waitress assumed her best manner reserved for little boys when she asked Bobby McKee if he didn't want to save his spoon for ice cream and cake. She was unprepared as he produced his other hand from under the table cloth, remarking, "No thank you. I have my fork!"

That this story is Reverend Howard's. A man was playing golf. (During church on Sunday morning?) He addressed the ball, lying near an ant hole. He missed the ball, but killed 77 ants. He addressed the ball again. Once more he failed to hit the white pill, but killed 88 ants. One ant was overheard to remark to his uncle, "If we want to live, we're going to have to get on the ball!"

That since this story was told in our presence, it probably has a hint tucked away somewhere in its moral!

That you'll understand how risky a "gossip" column is. We understand from a Costa Mesa resident that our "sudsy" chicken story was used over KFI's hometown news broadcast last weekend.

That we know we have three readers of this column. We had three invitations out of town last week-end.

That our animal notes this week contain a reminder that Charlee Arnold's "Toto" is about the cutest puppy we've ever seen and the J. E. Smith's have a Siamese kitten, six months old.

That by now you must have guessed what our "Junior" is. He's adequate, but "the yellow demon" had a better developed nose for news and fires. "Junior" lost the "scent" at last Tuesday's fire and we never did get there.

That we're glad everyone caught on to "Junior" right away. A driver for R & G wanted to know if he should suck him up the exhaust pipe! Elmer McWilliams said "the yellow demon" had pups, and "Frosty" said right away that it was a shame to get rid of the mama and keep one of the young!

That what "Junior" is really doesn't matter. But you might be interested to know that he's a 1937 British Austin — "touring sedan!" (He blew his top at some time or other, apparently.)

That we overdid ourselves for the VFW masquerade dance Saturday night, with disastrous results. We walked into the back door of our parents' house in our tramp outfit, only to be attacked by our two dogs, who didn't recgnize us. Nobody guessed who we were at the dance, either, so we had to wander around all evening without saying a word! We should work so hard, yet.

That we enjoyed the visit of two little treats or tricksters from across the stree, because their mother, Mrs. Kenneth Brown, had dressed them up into such charming small ghosts. The masks couldn't hide the gleam of excitement which shown from their eyes as they added to their treasures in sacks as deep as they were tall!

That Beth Reisig was lovely at the masquerade in a gown which came from Mrs. Les Hendershot's trunk of momentos of another era. Only a woman could appreciate the fine stitches and beautiful tucking which had been done by hand to complete the garment.

That one of the most generous Hallowe'en gestures we have heard about was at the drugstore. Mr. Henry gave orders that every request for a treat should be recognized with something from the fountain. Considering the youthful patronage at the popular counter, this was a large order. Notwithstanding the fact that no one was denied, the tricks were rather apparent.

That you have to hand it to Mary Louise Graber whose spirit we describe as being "indomitable". She wryly explains that she was given a bicycle recently for her birthday. Besides owning two horses, she has access to transportation by means of an automobile. Now, of all things, when her son John Henry Ratliff arrives home from service overseas, they are all going to learn to fly! Then they can choose their mode of transportation to fit the occasion.

That what prominent businessman, well-known in an industry which is seasonal, challenged what night cook to a beauty contest in the spirit of Hallowe'en masquerading? The resulting two "lovelies", we are told, were out of this world. That we would like to have seen!

Plan Toll-Free Extended County Phone Service

A proposed plan for extended telephone service in Orange county filed with the utilities commission would provide toll - free service from Cypress into eleven other exchanges, it was revealed this week.

To introduce the extended service plan, G. N. Gary, manager of this district said, would cost the company almost one million dollars in addition to the cost of converting the existing manual offices to dial.

Heaviest burden of the increased expense would be borne by business phones, he added. One-party business rate at present is $5.75 and would jump to $11.50 under the plan. Two-party business would increase from the present $4.75 charge to $8.50.

One-party residence rate would go from $3.75 to $4.00 and four-party from $2.75 to $3.25.

Exchanges which would be included in the toll-free area from the Buena Park exchange would be Fullerton, Brea, Placentia, Orange, Anaheim, Cypress, Garden Grove, Santa Ana, Westminster, Whittier and the Torrey exchange in Downey which would include Norwalk, Artesia, north Whittier and Santa Fe Springs.

Cypress would increase from its present number of 6,762 phones to 153,995 through ad dition of Long Beach. All other points called from Cypress would be the same as Buena Park except that Long Beach would be substituted for Whittier. Cypress would be the only Orange county exchange having toll-free service to Long Beach.

This report, according to manager Gary, involved an analysis of the toll telephone calls of Orange county subscribers and a study of the revenues, expense and plant effects of introducing extended service. Gary added that since toll-free service meant an increase of approximately two and one-half the number of calls handled at present, the trunk lines to other communities would have to be increased as well as the exchange equipment in the Cypress building.

The plan filed by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., on October first, was the result of a request by the Utility Commission for such a study. There still remains much work to be done before a final plan can be formulated.

The telephone company is arranging with Orange county representatives and interested groups to discuss and explain the plan.

Local Librarian Announces Advance Of Branch Here To Second Class

How much do you know about your local library? How often have you made use of it?

There are in Cypress enough interested persons who avail themselves of the library's facilities that it is now advanced to a second-class institution.

Chief reason for this distinctive honor is the untiring effort on the part of the librarian, Mrs. Ray King. She was responsible for the branch being established twelve years ago on November 16. The success and progress of this service to the community is due in a large measure to her personality and perserverence.

At a meeting last month, librarians were given an inkling of the fact that their libraries would be re-classified, based on their importance in the community. They were told that a decision would be made not altogether on circulation figures, but on the personal and human interest which people placed in the importance of the library.

Locally, an example of this qualification is the story of a recent patron who desired information on a particular type of "greasewood." Being employed in a small manufacturing concern, the desert plant was needed for the stem of a certain decoration.

The patron himself knew of three diffrent types of the plant, but these were not acceptable. This particular greasewood is so hard it cannot be cut with an axe. A request of this kind required research and study on the part of Mrs. King, locally. Then time and effort to explain to the reference department of the main library just what is wanted. Because Cypress was represented with a large number of this type of request slips, this branch has been raised to the status of second-class.

Mrs King confesses that a great deal of interest and curiosity was aroused in minds of the librarians attending the meeting, and she was pleasantly surprised to have the local library receive this honor.

Mrs. K. Walton, assistant county librarian, delivers books for the month and exchanges new ones for old. The truck arrives around the middle of the month. Mrs. King advises readers that a better selection of subjects is available at that time, and suggests that patrons check to gain a better selection.

Merchant Bowlers Number Two Best Number One Team In 'Grudge' Match

Both Cypress Merchant bowling teams have been waiting until the night that they would meet — and that meeting happened last Tuesday night.

The league-leading number 2 group took two games and the series to garner three points to the number one outfit's one.

Top individual kegler for the evening, however, was the No. 1 team's Foster Noe. In his second line, he hit 206 pins, while Al Wilson, on the No. 2 group, was also setting a good pace by rolling a 196.

The win for the No. 2 bunch gave them a firmer hold on first place in the Tuesday Handicap league at the Buena Park Bowl. Two teams, Lalicker's Dry Goods and the White Elephant cafe are tied for second. The Cypress Merchant No. 1 team is in a three way tie for fourth.

High men in the Cypress vs Cypress match Tuesday were Dick Hathcock, 191, Clyde O'Neal 190, and Wilson and Noe.

Church Members Enjoy Homecoming Day Last Sunday

Annual "Home Coming Day" was held Sunday at the Cypress Church of the Nazarene with a number of people who had formerly lived here, attending the all day meeting. Special guest was Rev. Frank Chapman, who had been a pastor of the local church for six years beginning in 1928.

The morning message, which was delivered by Rev. Howard Lewis who is conducting revival services here.

At 12:30 dinner was enjoyed by the congregation in the Sunday School annex of the church. Assembling again in the church auditorium at 12:30 o'clock, the session was given over to music and reminiscing about the early days of the church.

A poll of the audience showed M. A. Williams to have lived in the area the longest time, having come here in 1892, Clarence Norland in 1914, Mrs. Irene Santhoff in 1924 and Ocie Ferguson in 1926. The largest percentage of the audience have come to the community within the last ten years.

Change Meeting Date of Club

Scheduled for its regular monthly meeting date on November 8, members of the Cypress Women's Community club have postponed the affair one week.

A number of the members, including the president, Mrs. Frank Noe, and the acting secretary, Mrs. Milam Williams, will be serving on election boards.

The meeting on Tuesday, November 15, will be in the home of Mrs. Arthur Collins, with Mrs. C. E. Swain and Mrs. Len White serving as co-hostesses.

TRAFFIC ACCIDENT INVOLVES CYPRESSANS

A three car accident occurred following the Hallowe'en parade in Anaheim Monday night near the intersection of Lincoln and Euclid avenues. Carolina Gomez, of 9091 Bishop street, driver of one of the cars and her 11 year old daughter, Marguerite Ruiz, who was riding with her, were both injured, the latter seriously, and were taken to Orange county hospital.

Annual Visit To Auxiliary Slated Monday

Members of the auxiliary to Cypress Post no. 9847 of the VFW are urged to be present at the meeting Monday evening, November 7, at the meeting hall.

Mrs Leafy Giles, second district president, will be in attendance. She will be making her official annual inspection at that time.

A good turn-out of members is desired.

White Gold Day Financial Report Given

At the open meeting of the local park board on Wednesday evening at the schoolhouse, a report was made by Mrs. Olive Williams on the finances accrued from White Gold day.

A general discussion followed on what action should be taken to provide some sort of recreational program for the youth of the community.

Word has been received from the county's counsel that it will be necessary for Cypress to pay another installment on the park, plus interest and this and next year's taxes. The county's appropriation will not begin until late next year, it was reported.

Building Needed

The board estimates that after these payments are met, the treasury will show about $2000 which can be expended and will leave a small back-log in case of any emergencies.

There is not too much that can be accomplished with $2000 it was pointed out, although the consensus is that a gym or similar type building is most needed for the teen-agers, and public use.

The celebration this year showed a profit to date of $1588.79. However, there are still a few bills outstanding. On November first, the bank balance was around $4300.

Meet Wednesday

It was voted to call in an auditor to audit the books and render a financial statement. This was felt to be the usual procedure in cases where one group is charged with the responsibility of handling public funds.

Another meeting will be held next Wednesday evening at the school house. The public is again inbited to attend and suggestions and discussion will be open to all.

REVIVAL SERVICES END SUNDAY EVENING FOR NAZARENES

Revival services, being held currently at the Cypress church of the Nazarene, will end next Sunday, November 6.

Reverend W. D. Howard announces that on that day Mrs. Howard Lewis, wife of the evangelist, and her sister, Miss Ruth Anderson, will sing during both the morning and evening services.

The young peoples group will meet at 6:30 o'clock. Their meeting will be in charge of Reverend Howard Lewis. Topic at his morning service will be "Life's three imperatives."

Where Was The Fire Monday?

Cypress volunteer firemen were called to 9711 Juanita in the afternoon. A power pole was ablaze.

The next two calls were burning pumphouses. The first one was on Miller road near La Palma, and the second in the Buena Park fire department's district on La Palma.

To finish out a busy day, the volunteers sped to the corner of Crescent and Holder road late in the evening where a burning palm tree shot flames into the air.

The cause of these fires remain unknown. Except one or two instances, where maliciousness on the part of Hallowe'en pranksters might have been indicated, the fires were probably due to carelessness, the number one cause of fire destruction.

POST OFFICE LEAVES SMALL QUARTERS - SOON TO MOVE

A step forward in this community's development will be taken in the near future when the post office will be moved to larger quarters. One of the most certain indications that the town is growing, it will be a great relief to approximately 150 residents here to know that they may soon have post office boxes and can be taken off the "general delivery" service at the window.

Mrs. Ruth Pugh, postmaster, received word last Saturday noon that the move to the new office building at 5521 Lincoln avenue was official. The delay now will be because of time to make the necessary installation of fixtures.

The crowded condition of the Cypress post office and lack of proper facilities for giving the best service have been a sore spot in this community for some time. Mrs. Pugh and her staff are to be congratulated on their efforts in bringing about this change for the better here.

Cypress Teacher To Wed Saturday In Garden Grove

by Betty Benson, 6-A

Miss Wanda Armour, the second grade teacher of the Cypress elementary school will be married Saturday, November fifth at 7:30 in the evening. The wedding will be held in the Garden Grove Methodist church. The groom is Vern Martin of Garden Grove. Martin is studying to be a teacher. He is attending Whittier College.

The bride and groom will live in Garden Grove. They plan a honeymoon to San Francisco during Thanksgiving vacation. Miss Armour plans to continue teaching after her marriage.

The wedding will be a double wedding with Jane Cosand and Robert Fairness as the second couple.

All of us from the Cypress school wish them a very happy married life.

Busy Bees Club Elects Officers

A group of local women, who aspire to an organization of Rebekahs here in Cypress, have formed a club known as the Busy Bees.

As a nucleus to the new organization, several members of the Rebekah lodge in Artesia, who live in Cypress, are recruiting members for the Busy Bees, with the hope that theirs will soon be a strong enough unit to form a chapter in Cypress.

For the present, meetings are being held in members' homes, on the first Tuesday of the month. New members will be welcomed by any one of the officers.

At a recent meeting, Myrl Appleby was elected president; Evie Junker, vice-president; Rebecca Coffman, secretary; and Christine Cardin, chaplain.

To date the Busy Bees have made rapid progress toward the goal which they have set for themselves, with the possibility that they will be fully organized as a Rebekah chapter by the first of the year.

FORTUNE SMILES ON LOCAL "GOB"

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse E. Smith, 5701 Vonnie Lane, received word this week from their son, Robert Norton, that he would be home for Christmas.

Sailor Norton astounded his parents with the news that he was the fortunate winner of a $1000 "anchor pool" upon arriving at home port after a Mediterranean cruise aboard the U.S.S. Coral Sea.

For "landlubbers" not familiar with the term "anchor pool," the explanation is made that before the ship sails for home, the crew members contribute to a "kitty" and guess the time of dropping the "hook" at the end of the cruise. The winner gives the time which comes the nearest to being correct.

Young Norton has "converted" a part of his small fortune by the acquisition of a new Pontiac convertible to replace his year-old automobile, and expects to drive home from the east coast.

Special Notice

Parents of children who attend the Cypress elementary school are reminded of a four-day holiday, beginning on Thursday, November 10.

Teachers will attend a county-wide institute on that day, and school will not be in session. The following day, Friday, November 11, is Armistice day, and there will be no school.

Classes will be resumed as usual on Monday, November 14.

Successful Dance Given By VFW

Members of Cypress Post no. 9847 of the VFW voted its masquerade dance on Saturday night to be a huge success. Held in the hangar at the Cypress airpark, with music furnished by an unusually good orchestra, the affair attracted young and older folk alike. Noise makers, confetti and serpentines added to the fun and merriment.

A hot dog and refreshment stand enjoyed a good business during the evening. Proceeds from the concessions and admissions will be used in the organization's building fund.

When prizes were awarded following the judging of the costumes, Carl Markel, dressed as Satan, found that he had won first. Stephanie Benson, in a rabbit costume was second, and Virginia Daniels and Lucille Christopher placed third, dressed as French coquettes.

Honorable mention was given to Earl Groom of Buena Park. He was garbed as Uncle Sam.

General chairman of the Hallowe'en affair was Frank Buzzo. He was assisted by John Sutphin, Bill Hall, "Peck" Pecararo and Dale Kroesen. A great deal of credit also goes to Sgt. and Mrs. "Chuck" Knauss who helped the committee.

Dog Show Netted Another Winner

During the recent dog show held in Anaheim park, a second prize winner was overlooked in the columns of this paper.

The beautiful Doberman pinscher, "Nina," entered by Mike O'Halloran, was given a second place ribbon in her division.

Nina is four years old.

Sell Cypress School Bonds

With six bidders seeking to make the loan, the $145,000 issue of bonds for more schoolroom facilities at Cypress was sold by the board of Supervisors late Tuesday.

Weede & Co., Los Angeles bond house, was low bidder. It asked 2½ per cent interest, giving a premium of $871 which reduced the net cost of the loan to $47,754 for the 20-year retirement.

Interest rates asked by others ranged upward to 2¾ per cent. net interest cost of the highest bid submited would have been $51,649.70, Orange County Auditor L. H. Eckel told the board of supervisors in reporting the "prices" of the bids submitted.

Water Company Explains Break-Down Friday

(Exclusive to Enterprise)

In an interview with Ed Stang, division superintendent of the Southern California Water company's Orange division, which includes Cypress, he explained the sudden and unexpected failure of the company's well pumping plant on Walker avenue near De Long, early Friday morning, October 28. He arrived at the well site within thirty minutes of having been informed of the pump failure and quickly diagnosed the trouble as being serious, and necessitating the pulling of the pump from the well.

Unfortunately, Stang said, the company's new $20,000 well project on Walker near Newman was not yet ready for operation. It was designed for just such a contingency as presented itself Friday. The new well had been completed, tested out, and found to deliver ample water of good quality to meet all anticipated demands of Cypress for some years in the future, it was stated.

Need For Haste

Final permission from the board of supervisors to install a pumphouse and equipment for operating the well was not received until October 25. It would take too long to complete the permanent installation of the new pump in this well, so the company proceeded with a temporary gas engine driven installation. Crews rushed completion and the well was delivering water into the system in adequate amounts for all customers by nine p.m. Friday.

In the meantime Stang was able to obtain the full cooperation of the members of the school board who permitted the use of the school well to meet the emergency. A considerable amount of fire hose was obtained through the courtesy of the Orange County Fire Department and a portable chlorinator was installed so that the water from the school well would be safe for human consumption. This well normally is used only for irrigating the school grounds and has no connection whatsoever with the domestic water system in or out of the school grounds. This supply, however, made safe by chlorination, was available by about noon on Friday. It was necessary to dismiss the children from school because of problems involving proper sanitation.

The water company is rushing plans for the installation of their permanent pump in the new well. It is expected that it will be installed on Friday or Saturday night of this week. The work will be done at night so as to inconvenience patrons as little as possible during the change-over.

Failure of the older plant is being investigated and necessary plans completed to get it back into operation as a standby unit. The official stated that while this well appears to be pretty sick, he is hopeful that it can be revived.

According to Mr. Stang, the company's new well and pumping plant is costing about $20,000, which will swell the company's total investment in Cypress to $70,000. The company supplies 366 customers in Cypress at the present time.

Holiday

The Cypress post office will be closed all day on Friday, November 11, because of the Armistice Day holiday. Mrs. Ruth Pugh, postmaster, made the announcement this week.

STAND BY THE SCHOOLS

Proposition No. 1 on the special election ballot for Nov. 8 submits to the voters of California a school bond issue in the sum of $250,000,000.

This proposition must, in our considered opinion, receive an emphatic and overwhelming "yes" vote, because of the great need for it. It was because of this need for more schools, more buildings and more physical equipment that the Legislature called a special election for Nov. 8. The other propositions on the ballot are all important, but subsidiary to No. 1.

This bond issue is being submitted because there has been virtually no school construction since World War II began, because there has been a recordbreaking number of births in the state during and since the war and because of the influx of population in the last few years. The state's population has increased approximately 50 per cent in 10 years.

Based on known factors, California's school enrollment is expected to increase by 800,000 in the next 10 years. The schools already are overcrowded. Half sessions are necessary in all part of the state and makeshift buildings and even tents are being used for schools, some of them in Los Angeles county.

At the present time, reports the California Teachers Ass'n., at least 100,000 children are being educated in swing-shift style in half-day schooling. Another 100,000 attend classes in storerooms, dwellings, church basements, abandoned military barracks, quonset huts and even in lumber camp cookhouses and over a firehouse in one case.

Approximately 270,000 children in elementary schools are packed into classes far larger than the authorities consider efficient for capable instruction. Similar numbers meet in classrooms far below decent standards.

That, in general, is the statewide picture of the school housing problem. It is not an over-colored picture, drawn for propaganda purposes. It is a report on an actual condition that has grown up and we must meet it now. To postpone it will make it worse.

What has caused all this, you ask? As we said, it was caused by the war, the stork and the allurements of our climate to immigrants. Local tax resources collapsed when real estate developers, to meet a critical housing shortage, built thousands of mass production homes in suburban communities which had no industrial wealth to tax. The homes are occupied largely by veterans who brought with them small children and veterans' tax exemptions.

School districts, in most cases, have bonded themselves to the legal limit but even so could not meet the growing demand. The Legislature could not find the funds in the state treasury to meet this need and the result is: a bond issue.

The total need is 42,600 Classrooms. The need is urgent if we are to consider the health and future of California's children. We all deplore the need, just as we deplore a sudden illness in the family. But deploring alone builds no school houses. It is unthinkable that we would let the children down. A state that does not plan for the education of its children can hardly expect to have a future worth planning for.

By all means vote "YES" on Proposition No. 1.

—L. E. C. & L. A. Daily News

I RISE TO REMARK
by John Phillips

Washington is quiet. The Senate concluded its work; acted upon the appropriation bills we sent it last Easter, and so the Congress could recess until January. Now the Senate committees have left for trips to the areas in which the money of the American taxpayers is being spent.

The House committees are returning. I wrote once this summer, if we had Sam Rayburn abroad, we could have convened the House of Representatives. I said that to the customs inspector on the pier in New York, and he said perhaps we could have had the "gravel" sent over.

As I have repeatedly said, if if I had my way, I would send every member of the Congress to see conditions in these other countries, and to see how our money is being spent. There is no way to understand by reading a written description, and certainly not by reading the reports of the interested agencies. We try, from this side, (to repeat another frequent comment in this weekly letter) to understand some condition abroad by comparing it mentally with a similar condition in our own country. Then we appropriate money on the basis of that mental picture. Do you wonder that our foreign friends have a wrong conception of our ability to help them, or sometimes of our intentions?

Hard Working

It is customary for some writers, who depreciate the Congress, sometimes thoughtlessly, to criticize these Congressional trips. I've seen lots of them. Only once have I seen one I'd call a "junket." The others have been hard working, holding hearings and committee meetings, as if they were home, and dragging around, often in out-of-the-way places, to see and check the details for which the committees were responsible.

The taxpayers need have no qualms. He (or she) benefits. If I may use a personal example, which is typical of the Congressional trip situation, the taxpayers, through the budget of the American Battle Monuments Commission, will probably pay about $900 of the costs of this trip of mine this summer; none of Mrs. Phillips' costs, of course. I pay the rest. The saving in cash in the budgets of the next few years, will run to several millions. My Pennsylvania - Dutch, Cornish, and Quaker blood tells me that if you can make $1000 by spending $1, it's a good investment. In my case, a member of the responsible committee for the first time visited the American cemeteries and went over the details of the program. The personal knowledge of the handling of European aid, gained by other members abroad, should direct those affairs in more productive channels.

Paid Own Way

These details are personal and unimportant. The important thing, as I shall try to tell you when I get home, is to put our money and our efforts into the things which will rehabilitate Europe and the Orient, and which will work for peace. Primarily, the nations must help themselves. I can only say again that money we spend in one day for the great military and naval establishment (and I won't argue it isn't necessary in present world conditions) — if spent in places of delayed farm education, would do more to restore the countries and preserve the peace, than guns. To that I'd add a spread of information and education through exchange trips. In that group I would include Congressmen!!!!

UNIQUE AIR TICKET SERVICE OPENS AT FULLERTON AIRPORT

Opening this week at the Fullerton Municipal airport is the new Airline Ticket office and Calandaire Tours operated by William F. Whalen and R. Galen Ward.

The unique ticket and tour service proprietors are representatives for nine independent air lines, featuring international, national and intra-state travel. They are also booking agents for Aero photo service opererated by Dick Mitchell.

Through the new ticket service it is possible to travel "any where in the world from Fullerton Municipal airport," they said. This feat is accomplished by means of a ferrying service to major airfields at Los Angeles and Long Beach.

Whalen and Ward have been arranging tours in California for the past 3 1/2 years. They plan to make their new air ticket service available at the homes of prospective travelers.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE THEME "ADAM AND FALLEN MAN"

"Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light." This declaration of Paul to the Ephesians will be the Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson - Sermon on "Adam and Fallen Man" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

In a Scriptural citation from Luke it is related that when Jesus was a guest of Simon, the Pharisee, "a woman in the city, which was a sinner... brought an alibaster box of oinment, And stood at his feet behind him weeping and began to wash his feet with tears . . . and anointed them with ointment... And he turned to the woman, and said unto Simon, Seest thou this woman? I entered into thine house, thou gavest me no water for my feet: but she hath washed my feet with tears and wiped them with the hairs of her head . . . Wherefore I say unto thee, Her sins, which are many, are forgiven;; for she loved much: . . . And He said unto her, Thy sins are forgiven."

Mary Baker Eddy writes in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "Christ, as the spiritual or true idea of God, comes now as of old, preaching the gospel to the poor, healing the sick, and casting out evils." "Christ is the ideal Truth, that comes to heal sickness and sin through Christian Science and attributes all power to God."

Cypress was represented in Anaheim's Hallowe'en prade by the Cypress Community club. The covered wagon used in the White Gold day parade was used.

Calling at the M. A. Williams home on Western avenue on Monday was Mrs. Narissa Gandy of Pasadena, an old friend whom they have known over thirty years.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hyde, who formerly lived at 9711 Graham street, have moved from Camdenton, Missouri, to Nebo, Missouri where they will make their home. The Hyde's left here about two months ago.

The local Girl Scouts are planning a visit in the near future to the workshop of Earl Sartwell. He will explain a little of the art of cutting and polishing semi-precious stones and other materials.

TO CONSUMERS OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA WATER CO IN CYPRESS

Our new well and Pumping Plant on South Walker Avenue is scheduled to go into service with its permanent equipment this week-end.

The installation will be made at night so as to inconvenience our customers as little as possible.

This new well is now serving the town with a temporary pump and engine, which was hurriedly installed on Friday, October 28, following the unexpected failure of our older well pumping unit on North Walker Avenue.

We extend our sincere appreciation to the members of the local School Board for their fine cooperation in making available their water well pending the installation of our temporary pump above mentioned.

To those of our consumers who were inconvenienced on account of last Friday's breakdown, our apologies.

We will have expended $20,000 on our new Plant and facilities upon its completion and confidently expect it, along with our other $50,000 worth of existing facilities, to take care of your growing community adequately and reliably.

Red Feather Day In The Schools

Friday, November fourth, has been designated as "Red Feather day in the schools."

Any student who brings one penny or more will be given a red feather. Each room in school has been furnished a container for the donations, and there is an edequate supply of the red feathers.

The red feather is the symbol of the Community Chest, and the drive in Cypress is under the auspices of the Anaheim organization. Five different groups receive their funds from the Community Chest — Girl and Boy Scouts, Salvation Army, Catholic Welfare and Visiting Nurses.

Volley Ball Girls' Team Suffers Defeat

The Cypress eighth grade girls played their second series of volley ball games and lost three and won one with Stanton.

In their first series of games they won all four with Magnolia. The eighth grade had to ride on the bus so they were the only ones that got to see the games.

The line-up is as follows: Esther Mata, Elaine Miranda, Rosemary Odermatt, Harriet Davidson, Sylvia Rule, Verah Gail Bodkins, Colleen Phillips, Patsy Reeves and Mary Lou Hoxsie.

There were two substitutes. They were Myra Simpson and Juanita Washburn. They had a game with Centralia but we did not find out the results yet.

Girl Scouts' Hallowe'en Party

by Rosalie Miller and Ivey Giles, 6-A

The sixth grade Girl Scouts of troop 14, held a "Beggar Den Hallowe'en Party" October 28, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Leverich, the Girl Scout leader.

There were 20 people present at the party. The leaders played a trick on the Scouts. The girls thought they would just have to know the secret password to get in, but instead they had to go through the archway and ring the cowbell. Then they had to walk up to the door and tell the password to one of the old witches, and as they told the password to the old witch, they had a surprise. Just as they started to say the password a lot of water went in their faces.

Then they had to go to the "Rocky Mountains" which was a mattress, then through the bat's cave and into the old witches' den, where the old witch told their fortunes. She told them to bring back something.

The girls could not understand at first. It turned out to be a scavenger hunt. Both teams got all of their orders filled so they all got prizes which were little figurines. Later they had refreshments and a few games and went home.

The leaders and girls were very happy because the party was a great success.

Travelogue

by James C. Duncan

By JAMES C. DUNCAN

We spent one day at sea after leaving Leghorn and the following morning at 6:00 we arrived in Naples, Italy.

At 9:30 a.m., Lenny and I went ashore to see the city. Unlike Genoa, Naples is rough and dirty and not so beautiful. One thing we noticed was that all the Italian we had learned in Genoa and Leghorn was useless here. The dialect was entirely different. That's the strange thing about Italy. There are more than 400 different dialects and they change rapidly from one city to the other. The people in Naples can't understand the people in Genoa. It was here in Naples that we heard the familiar type of dialect used by some American Italians by putting an "a" on the ends of their words when they speak English.

We had to return to the ship for the lunch hour and when that was completed, Lenny and I returned to the city and hired a taxie. We drove through the city and out through the outskirts and then we turned on to a government owned highway which we had to pay a toll to use.

Traveling fast, we soon left the city behind and sped through the rich farmlands of central Italy. These farmlands produce much of the vegetables that Italy consumes.

The most predominating sight in and around Naples is the famous volcano, Mount Vesuvius. It looks down on you no matter where you are. We were now rapidly approaching it. White and black smoke billowed from its crater. It appeared much closer than it really was.

Finally, we reached our destination. Getting out of the taxie, the driver offered to be our guide for a fee which we accepted. To get in to what we what we wanted to see, we had to enter a gate and pay addmission fee.

Paying our fee, our guide led us up a narrow and rocky path to the top of a small hill. Lava dust covered everything. Trees were bent and crooked and almost naked of any leaves. The air was heavy with the dust.

Standing on the top of the hill we looked down on an awe inspiring sight. Here we were looking at perhaps the most famous city in the world.

Stretching before us was the ruins of Pompeii. Our guide led us down the path into the ruins. On both sides of us were crumbled walls, broken pillars, rubble and the ever present lava dust which covered everything. Our guide took us to the most interesting spots as we only had a short time to see everything.

The streets in the city are very narrow and are made of stone. Wheels, many centuries ago, had carved deep trenches into the stone. Some of the buildings were dug up in almost perfect condition. In one house, our guide showed us a stove with food still in the pots that someone had been cooking when Vesuvius erupted and buried the city in a blanket of bubbling lava in 79 A. D.

On some of the walls facing the street we could see signs painted in red paint which our guide told us were advertizements of the coming events at the colosseum. One building serves as museum and in it is all the valuable things collected from the ruins. There ar two mummies in glass cases that were uncovered laying in the exact positions they were when the lava covered them. One is a mother covering her baby with her body and the other is a man. Their is also a dog and a cat.

Our guide showed us Jupiter's Temple, the parade square, and some of the homes. We also visited the colosseum where so many were trapped and buried. Looming above us and the ruins was the monster, Vesuvius. To me, this day would always be an unforegettable one.

That evening at 6.00 we sailed for Marseilles, France.

CYPRESS LOCALS

Extended for another week, the Community Chest drive will be continued because of the lack of response and failure to reach the goal set. Headquarters of the drive in Anaheim informed the local chairman. Mrs. T. J. Purdy, of this fact this week.

Mrs. Lowrey is in Long Beach helping to care for her mother, Mrs. A. H. Avakian. The latter was taken ill last Saturday and was hospitalized. She has since returned home, where she will be confined to bed for some time, but is improving.

Attending an entertainment sponsored by the Mormon church in Long Beach on Wednesday evening before Hallowe'en, a group of Cypress youngsters favored with a special dance number. Taking part in the program were Virginia Holt and Margaret and Vickie Konig.

When the Elks' club entertained with a Hollowe'en dance on Saturday evening in Anaheim, several couples from Cypress attended. They were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoyt, Mr. and Mrs. James Broadbelt, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Essex, Mr. andMrs. Ed Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Morris, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Sanders, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKee, and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Kelly.

Several from Cypress enjoyed the 26th annual Hallowe'en festival in Anaheim on Monday, beginning with the breakfast served to over 1800 enthusiastic persons in the morning, and ending with the big parade at night. Many school children and their parents enjoyed the parade and program in the afternoon dedicated to the children.

The seven-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Osborn was signally honored last week by being chosen by Zenith productions to appear in a talent teleshow. The talented young lady signed a contract and began a 26-week period of rehearsals.

Patti Bryant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bryant, Hansen road, underwent a tonsillectomy at Seaside hospital Thursday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kopsho, 5371 Camp street, visited last Sunday in Wilmar with Mr. and Mrs. Al Lewis, former residents here.

Recent guests in the Murton Jones home have been Mr. and Mrs. Dick Mosey, of Mojave, formerly of Cypress, and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Johnston, an uncle and aunt from Minneapolis. Johnston attended the National Ice Cream and dairy convention in Los Angeles. He is general manager of the Crescent Creamery company.

Among the new cars being driven in Cypress are a Pontiac which belongs to the O. F. Dixon's and a Studebaker belonging to Leona Murdock.

Mrs. E. O. Clark's mother, who has made her home here the past few months, is planning on a several months' visit with relatives in the Pacific northwest.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson have returned from an extended motor trip through the midwest.

Local firemen (volunteers) were called to Taylor street, off Hansen road, last Tuesday afternoon where a brush fire was in progress.

Mrs. G. Duran, 5621 Bishop street, has enjoyed a visit from her son, JimVinzer, who returned last Friday to Fort Benning, Georgia, where he is stationed with the army. Mrs. Duran's daughter, Caroline Lopez, is staying in Globe, Arizona, with her grandmother.

It's difficult to call this a school. But it is a kindergarten in Alameda county, housed in an abandoned church structure. There are approximately 70 children attending this school, of which 35 are in this small room, which is practically devoid of all equipment for teaching except a phonograph. No adequate amount of instruction can be given these children and their attendance amounts to baby sitting while their parents work. Proposition 1 at the November 8 emergency election will enable impoverished school districts, such as this one, to provide adequate class rooms so that the children can have a chance at an education.
